We, design lovers New Yorkers are excited about the upcoming Salon Art + Design, New York's best design fair, opening next Friday at the Park Avenue Armory by Sanford L. Smith + Associates. The fair brings together some of the world's finest design galleries who present curated booths that showcase the best of collectible modern and contemporary design from the turn of the 20th century to the present. I am honored to serve on its honorary committee, chaired by Margaret Russell, and will feature highlights during the next week. In addition to the regular participating galleries, some new galleries have been added to the prestigious roster, including Galleria O Roma and Nilufar, both Italian galleries specializing in mid-century Italian design and in collectible contemporary design. Friedman Benda Gallery will show new pieces by the Campana Brothers, who will be attending the fair. Pictures courtesy Friedman Benda
