

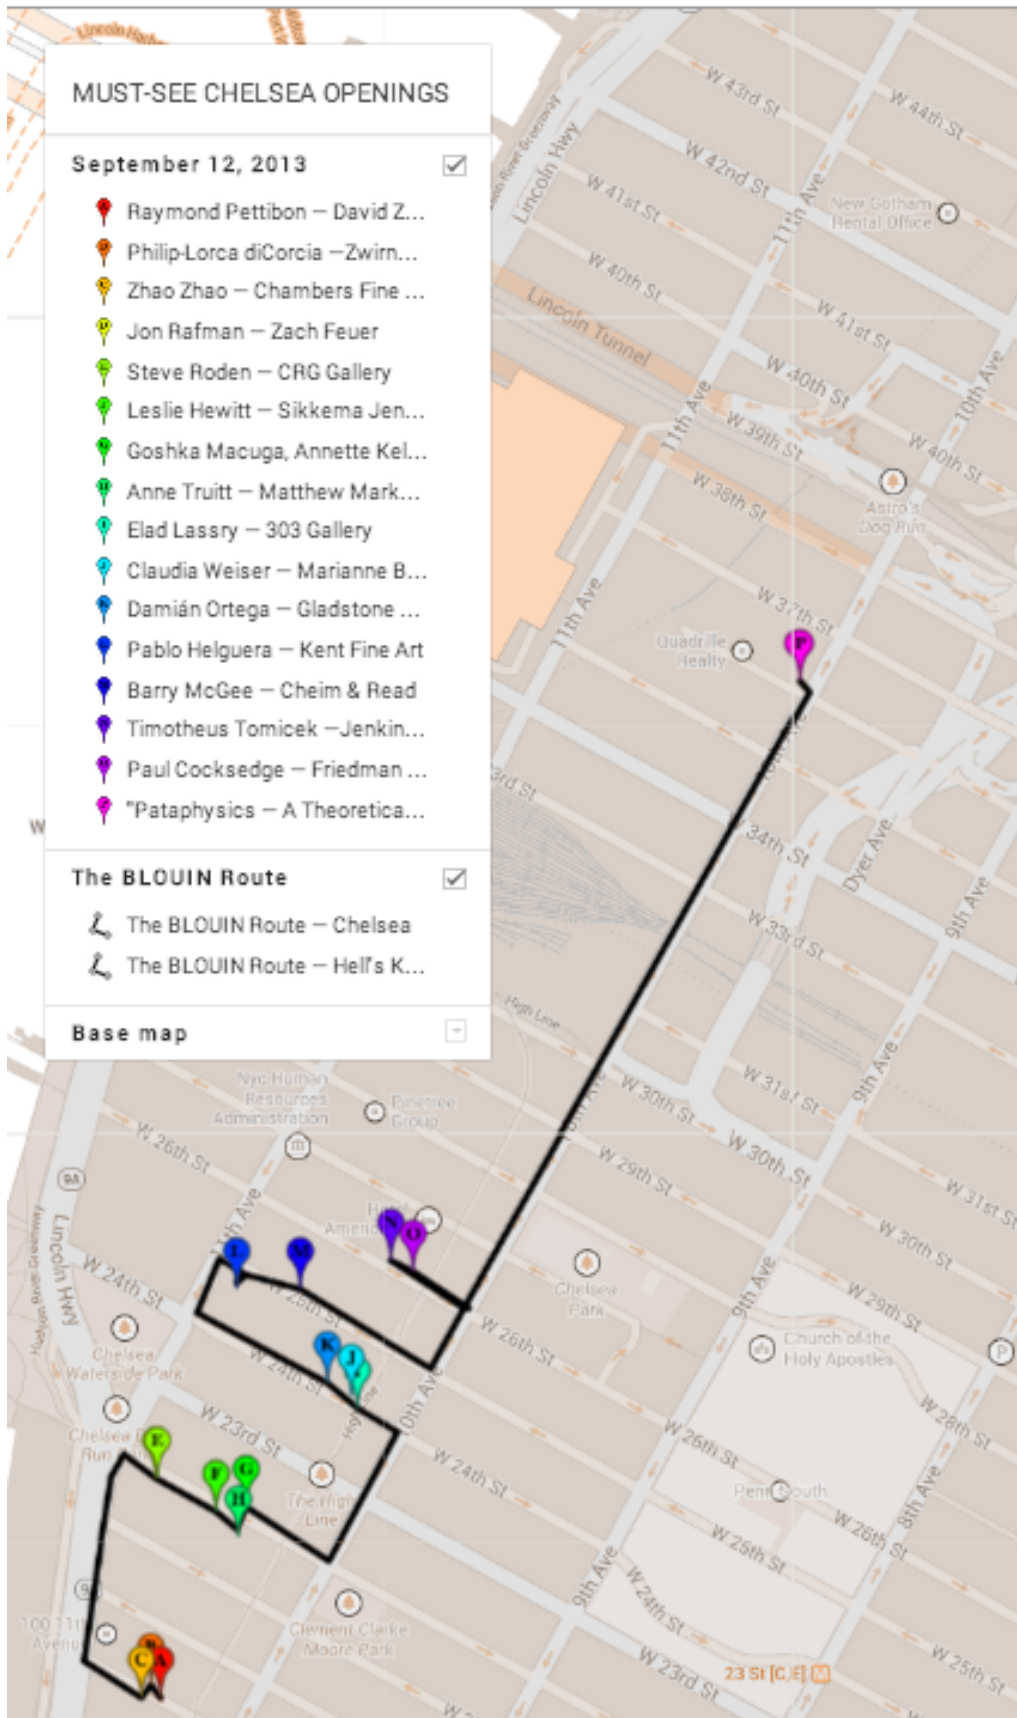

Charting a Course Through 14 Must-See Chelsea Gallery Shows

Tonight is the big night for Chelsea, still the epicenter of New York's commercial art world. Since our offices are right there, you can expect the BLOUIN ARTINFO team to be wandering the streets in force. To aid our fellow art lovers, we've put together a handy — and completely subjective — list of where we're headed, and even helpfully plotted out our route for those who want to follow along. Click on the individual letters to read about what we're looking forward to. See you there!
