FAYE TOOGOOD

Interior Design
LONDON

Designer Faye Toogood refuses to be boxed in. At the intersection of refined and raw, her earthy, elemental style nods to both past and present, a characteristic she credits to her academic studies in fine art and the history of art. As part of her holistic approach to environments, she designs everything for her spaces. Since founding her multidisciplinary practice in 2008, the former World of Interiors staffer has created installations, objects, and interiors for Comme des Garçons. Recent and ongoing projects include a holiday house in Ibiza, a penthouse apartment in London, and the flagship store for British brand Mulberry—all conceived to be fully immersive experiences of her distinctive vision.

FERNANDO SANTANGELO INC.

Interior Design
NEW YORK

Ever since star hotelier André Balazs tapped Fernando Santangelo to revitalize Hollywood's legendary Chateau Marmont in the early 1990s—a job that helped launch both the boutique-hotel craze and Santangelo's career—the Uruguay-born, New York-based interior designer has been conjuring richly layered interiors that retain a sense of history. These days, as he continues to appoint trendy hospitality hot spots (a surf-and-yoga hotel in Costa Rica; the McCarren Hotel & Pool in Williamsburg, Brooklyn), the decorator brings his signature sensitivity and virtuosity to residential projects for clients like Bette Midler, artist Jack Pierson (see AD December 2016) and Proenza Schouler designers Jack McCollough and Lazaro Hernandez.
