Soon, New York's Park Avenue Armory will again abound with pieces of design and works of fine art, curated by 56 international galleries this year for the eighth edition of Salon Art + Design. The fair offers a highly contextual premise of a considered mixing and matching of vintage, modern and contemporary objects with a thread between tradition and experimentation. Below, we select a handful of highlights that progress this aesthetic, including local talent, first time showcases and more.

Friedman Benda

Friedman Benda's drawing room setting, designed by Leila Arruda, will reflect Salon's mission of mirroring the way people approach the decorative aspects of their homes today: with attention to craft and a juxtaposition of textures. For this showcase, Israeli designer Raphael Navot has created an oak console of fluid, sober lines, titled Aleatoric (pictured). Jonathan Trayte's playfully bronze painted corn, pear and lemon and Chris Schanck's idiosyncratic upholstered shell chairs – amongst other pieces – add colour and drama to the scene.
