

'Opera House Cafe' in São Paulo

Opening 4th of July, 2011

Furniture by Campana brothers

To Celebrate 100 years, São Paulo's Opera House, or Theatro Municipal, went through renovations and improvements. Amongst those, is the Cafe-restaurant, designed by the Campana brothers. The site seeks multiplying the visibility of the architectural elements in the room, as well as communicating with them, creating coherence throughout the entire environment.

Brass, marble, wood and bronze colored mirrors, mainly compose the furniture of the Cafe that carries historical memory. Some of the original furniture was reused, keeping the memory of the place, so the Cafe mixes elegance and art with objects like the bronze colored mirror surfaces, the wall panel and the tabletops that reflect the colors and the light into small and big fragments, involving the room. At the same time that all these features date the 100th anniversary of the Opera House, it transposes modernity and innovation characteristic of the Campana style.

Respecting this site that represents part of our culture, Fernando and Humberto Campana helped open doors to a new phase of the Opera House and left their trademark in this historical monument of the city of São Paulo.

The construction was donated by the Campana brothers and sponsored by Votorantin Metais. The cafe-restaurant works during presentations and also offers breakfast and lunch hours.
