This Weekend: 'The Vesper Project' Opens

Inside Titus Kaphar's "Vesper Project," opening this weekend at Friedman Benda Gallery. Through paintings, sculpture, and three recreated rooms of a 19th century house, the exhibit portrays "a complex family tragedy."

"The Vesper Project" Opens

Thursday, February 28, 6 p.m.

During your pre-Armory Show Thursday evening gallery hop, be sure to visit the opening reception for artist Titus Kaphar's anticipated new exhibition, "The Vesper Project." Showing at Chelsea's Friedman Benda Gallery, the exhibit will include paintings, sculptures, furniture, and three reconstructed rooms of a 19th century house. By overtaking an entire physical space in the reconstructed house, the artist has documented a complex family tragedy and created a new narrative for a previously untold story. 515 W. 26th St., 212-239-8700
