

nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery

'lacquered paper-objects' by nendo for nilufar gallery, 2012
all images by masayuki hayashi and courtesy the designer

nendo has developed 'lacquered paper-objects', a collection of three-dimensionally printed paper-constructed series of containers for nilufar gallery to be shown during milan design week 2012. the japanese design studio created each vessel by combining sheets of paper, pasted together by a 3D printer and then carved by hand in their workshop. the final step to developing the containers includes applying the piece's exterior with a thick lacquer in order to adhere the edges of its accumulated paper shape. the resulting object is a vessel carved from paper which greatly resembles the raw material from which the refined objects have been formed.

"nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery", Designboom, April 2, 2012

the lacquered paper-objects collection in full

“nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery”, Designboom, April 2, 2012

FRIEDMAN BENDA 515 W 26TH STREET NEW YORK NY 10001
FRIEDMANBENDA.COM TELEPHONE 212 239 8700 FAX 212 239 8760

the small containers have been shaped in various formations to hold objects of many dimensions

“nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery”, Designboom, April 2, 2012

FRIEDMAN BENDA 515 W 26TH STREET NEW YORK NY 10001
FRIEDMANBENDA.COM TELEPHONE 212 239 8700 FAX 212 239 8760

the two components stay joined by means of the inner lip of the bottom piece

a single lacquered paper object

“nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery”, Designboom, April 2, 2012

FRIEDMAN BENDA 515 W 26TH STREET NEW YORK NY 10001
FRIEDMANBENDA.COM TELEPHONE 212 239 8700 FAX 212 239 8760

the small containers in the beginning stages of their formation to complete the paper-constructed three dimensional objects, a layer of lacquer is applied to solidify the surface

“nendo: lacquered paper-objects for nilufar gallery”, Designboom, April 2, 2012

FRIEDMAN BENDA 515 W 26TH STREET NEW YORK NY 10001
FRIEDMANBENDA.COM TELEPHONE 212 239 8700 FAX 212 239 8760