

The 20 Shows You Need to See during Armory Week

ARTSY EDITORIAL
BY CASEY LESSER AND DEMIE KIM

FEB 25TH, 2017 2:44 AM

Armory Week may emphasize art fairs and events, but it's also an opportune time to take in the best of New York's gallery and museum exhibitions. From an in-depth look at Georgia O'Keeffe's finely crafted persona at the Brooklyn Museum to fresh figurative paintings by Sascha Braunig at Foxy Production to a new suite of Sterling Ruby ceramics at Gagolian, these 20 shows are not to be missed.

“Faye Toogood: Assemblage 5” at Friedman Benda

FEB 23–APRIL 5 • 515 WEST 26TH STREET

Faye Toogood
Roly-Poly Chair / Earth, 2016
Friedman Benda

Faye Toogood
Solitaire / Moon, 2016
Friedman Benda

British designer Faye Toogood arranges her numbered collections in three-dimensional spaces she labels “assemblages.” The fifth iteration of this series—and her first solo exhibition in the U.S.—takes inspiration from archaic shapes and elemental materials including cob composite, lithium-barium crystal, and silver nitrate bronze (representing earth, water, and moon, respectively).

Lesser, Casey & Kim, Demie. “The 20 Shows You Need to See during Armory Week,”
Artsy, February 25, 2017.

FRIEDMAN BENDA 515 W 26TH STREET NEW YORK NY 10001
FRIEDMANBENDA.COM TELEPHONE 212 239 8700 FAX 212 239 8760